6 Definitions

6.1 Sex Discrimination

Sex discrimination is adverse treatment of an individual based on sex, rather than individual merit. Sex discrimination encompasses but is not limited to, sexual violence, sexual harassment, sexual assault, stalking, dating/domestic violence, retaliation, and other related forms of sex discrimination. Examples of conduct that can constitute sex discrimination because of sex include, but are not limited to:

- Singling out or targeting an individual for different or adverse treatment (e.g., more severe discipline, lower salary increase);
- Failing or refusing to hire or allow participation by an individual in a College activity;
- Terminating or removing an individual from employment or an educational program; or
- Verbally harassing, abusing, or demeaning a targeted individual with conduct designed to impact that individual adversely.

6.2 Sexual Violence:

The following behaviors constitute sexual violence and are prohibited under this policy. All forms of sexual violence are serious offenses and will result in College discipline. Sexual violence involving force, duress, or inducement of incapacitation, or where the perpetrator has deliberately taken advantage of another person's state of incapacitation, will be deemed especially egregious and may result in expulsion or termination of employment. The consumption of alcohol or use of illegal substances will not ordinarily constitute a mitigating factor or circumstance when it contributes to, or is involved in, an alleged act of sexual violence.

6.2.1 Non-Consensual Sexual Penetration:

Any act of vaginal or anal penetration by a person's penis, finger, other body part, or an object, or oral penetration by a penis, without consent.

6.2.2 Non-Consensual Sexual Contact:

Any sexual touching other than non-consensual sexual penetration without consent. Examples of non-consensual sexual contact may include genital-genital or oral-genital contact not involving penetration; contact with breasts, buttocks, or genital area, including over clothing; removing the clothing of another person; and kissing.

6.2.3 Dating Relationship Violence:

This policy prohibits acts of violence, threat, or intimidation that harm or injure a partner in a current or former dating relationship (defined below). These acts include, but are not limited to, sexual or physical abuse or the threat of such abuse. Dating relationship violence can be a single act or pattern of behavior.

6.2.4 Domestic Violence:

Domestic violence under this policy includes acts of violence, threat, or intimidation that harm or injure members of a family or household. A "household" exists when individuals who are married or have an intimate relationship share access to the same private living space or bathroom.

6.3 Stalking:

Stalking under this policy is a course of conduct (i.e., more than one act) directed at a specific person which would cause a reasonable person to feel fear, to experience substantial emotional distress, or to fear for their safety or the safety of a third person. Acts that together constitute stalking may be direct actions or may be communicated by a third party, and can include, but are not limited to, threats of harm to self, others, or property; pursuing or following; non-consensual (unwanted) communication by any means; unwanted gifts; trespassing; and surveillance or other related types of observation.

6.4 Sexual Exploitation:

Sexual exploitation is any act whereby one person violates the sexual privacy of another or takes unjust or abusive sexual advantage of another who has not provided consent, and that does not constitute non-consensual sexual penetration or non-consensual sexual contact. Examples may include, but are not limited to, voyeurism (i.e., spying on others who are in intimate or sexual situations); or recording, photographing, transmitting, viewing, or distributing intimate or sexual images or sexual information without the knowledge and consent of all parties involved.

6.5 Sexual Harassment:

Sexual harassment is any unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature when:

- Submission to, or rejection of, such conduct is made implicitly or explicitly a term or condition of instruction, employment, or participation in any College activity or benefit;
- Submission to, or rejection of, these behaviors by an individual is used as a basis for evaluation in making academic or personnel decisions; or
- These behaviors are sufficiently severe and/or pervasive to have the effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's educational experience, working conditions, or living conditions by creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive environment.

6.6 Sexually Inappropriate Conduct:

Unwelcome sexual conduct may not rise to the level of sexual harassment or sexual exploitation, but that is sexual in nature, is also prohibited under this policy. Examples include but are not limited to, lewdness and obscene or sexually offensive gestures and comments.

6.7 Retaliation:

Retaliation is any attempt to seek retribution against an individual or group of individuals involved in filing a complaint or report under this policy, filing an external complaint, participating in a disciplinary process, or opposing in a reasonable manner an action believed to constitute a violation of this policy. Retaliation can take many forms, including, but not limited to, adverse action or violence, threats, and intimidation. Actions in response to a good faith report or response under this policy are considered retaliatory if they have a materially adverse effect on the working, academic, or College-controlled environment of an individual or if they hinder or prevent the individual from effectively carrying out his/her College responsibilities.

6.8 Dating Relationship:

Dating relationship means a relationship between individuals who have or have had a continuing relationship of a romantic or intimate nature. The existence of such a relationship shall be determined based upon consideration of (1) the length of the relationship, (2) the nature of the relationship, and (3) the frequency and type of interaction between the persons involved in the relationship. Dating relationships may include, but are not limited to, dating relationships, "hook-up" relationships, and relationships in which partners are characterized as "girlfriends" or "boyfriends."

6.9 Consent and Incapacitation:

In reviewing possible violations of sexual misconduct, Eastwick College and the Hohokus school considers consent as the voluntary, informed, un-coerced agreement through words and/or actions freely given, which a reasonable person would interpret as a willingness to participate in mutually agreed-upon sexual acts. Consensual sexual activity happens when each partner willingly and affirmatively chooses to participate.

6.9.1 Consent

Indications that consent is not present may include, but are not limited to, when physical force is used or there is a reasonable belief of the threat of physical force, when duress is present, when one person overcomes the physical limitations of another person, and when a person is incapable of making an intentional decision to participate in a sexual act, which could include instances in which the person is in a state of incapacitation. Important points regarding consent include:

- Consent to one act does not constitute consent to another act.
- Consent on a prior occasion does not constitute consent on a subsequent occasion.
- The existence of a prior or current relationship does not, in itself, constitute consent.
- Consent can be withdrawn or modified at any time.
- Consent is not implicit in a person's manner of dress.
- Accepting a meal, a gift, or an invitation for a date does not imply or constitute consent.
- Silence, passivity, or lack of resistance does not necessarily constitute consent.
- Initiation by someone who a reasonable person knows or should have known to be deemed incapacitated is not consent.

6.9.2 Incapacitation

Incapacitation is the inability, temporarily or permanently, to give consent because the individual is mentally and/or physically helpless, either voluntarily or involuntarily, or the individual is unconscious, asleep, or otherwise unaware that the sexual activity is occurring. In addition, an individual is incapacitated if they demonstrate that they are unaware of where they are, how they got there, or why or how they became engaged in a sexual interaction. When alcohol is involved, incapacitation is a state beyond drunkenness or intoxication. When drug use is involved, incapacitation is a state beyond being under the influence of the drug. Some indicators of incapacitation may include, but are not limited to, lack of control over physical movements, lack of awareness of circumstances or surroundings, or the inability to communicate for any reason. An individual may experience a blackout state in which he/she appears to be giving consent, but do not actually have conscious awareness or the ability to consent. It is especially important, therefore, that anyone engaging in sexual activity be aware of the other person's level of intoxication. The relevant standard that will be applied is whether the respondent actually knew, or a sober reasonable person in the same position should have known, that the other party was incapacitated and therefore could not consent to the sexual activity.

6.10 Additional Definitions

- Complainant refers to the individual(s) who has been the subject of prohibited conduct, regardless of whether that individual makes a complaint or seeks disciplinary action.
- Respondent refers to the individual(s) who has been accused of prohibited conduct. The term third party refers to any individual who is not a College student, faculty member, or staff member (e.g., vendors, alumni/ae, or local residents).
- Responsible Employee refers to all faculty, academic and campus management, and all persons in a position of perceived authority. This means they are required to disclose any complaints including names of those involved to the Title IX Deputy Coordinators and/or Eastwick College and Hohokus school's Title IX Coordinator to ensure proper measures are taken. The responsible employee must notify complainants of their responsibilities to report the incident or suspected Title IX violation to appropriate personnel.

7 Reporting Policies and Protocols

Eastwick College and the Hohokus school College encourages all individuals to report any alleged or suspected violation of the Sexual Misconduct and Discrimination Policy including domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual assault to the campus Title IX Deputy Coordinator/Campus Director and/or Academic Dean and to report potential criminal conduct to law enforcement. Eastwick College and the Hohokus school employees who become aware of potential violations of this policy are required to notify Eastwick College and the Hohokus school. You may notify the following personnel regarding an incident or suspected Title IX violation:

- Deputy Title IX Coordinator/Campus Director
- Academic Dean, Associate Academic Dean
- Corporate Title IX Coordinator
- members of management,
- or a Responsible Employee.

Eastwick College and the Hohokus school strongly encourages that any criminal conduct be reported to law enforcement and will provide any assistance necessary in contacting and notifying appropriate law enforcement if requested. In addition, should the individual decline to notify such authorities, Eastwick College and the Hohokus school will support that decision.

7.1 Confidentiality

Eastwick College and the Hohokus school has independent obligations to report and/or investigate potential misconduct, even if a complainant does not wish to initiate an official process. Therefore, absolute confidentiality cannot be promised with respect to a formal complaint of discrimination, harassment, sexual harassment, violence (i.e., dating violence, domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking), or retaliation received through Eastwick College and Hohokus school's reporting options. Eastwick College and the Hohokus school wishes, however, to create an environment in which legitimate complaints are encouraged, while also protecting the privacy of all involved in an investigation. Complaints about violations of these policies will therefore be handled in strict confidence, with facts made available only to those who need to know in order for Eastwick College and the Hohokus school to promptly and thoroughly investigate and resolve the matter.

7.2 Confidential Resources

While Eastwick College and the Hohokus school does not offer on-campus confidential resources, Eastwick College and the Hohokus school does make local resources available to all students and staff.

7.3 Options for Complainants and Other Reporting Parties

Anyone who seeks to make a complaint or report may complete one of the following actions. These options are considered official notifications or complaints and will initiate Eastwick College and Hohokus school's investigation procedures under Title IX.

- File an internal complaint or report with Corporate Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Title IX Coordinators, thereby invoking Eastwick College and Hohokus school's internal investigation process. This can be completed by:
 - Scheduling an appointment or walk-in and see responsible employees as listed above.
 - Call appropriate personnel to report a potential violation. See Sections 5.1 and 5.2 for contact information.
 - Email or submit written complaints to the Corporate Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Title IX Coordinators. See Sections 5.1 and 5.2 for contact information.
- Request interim measures from Corporate Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Title IX Coordinators.
- If off campus, contact the local police department (See Section 3.1) for assistance in filing a criminal complaint and preserving physical evidence. An individual may pursue some or all of these steps at the same time (e.g., one may simultaneously pursue an internal complaint and a criminal complaint). When initiating any of the above options, an individual does not need to know whether he/she wishes to request any particular course of action nor how to label what happened.

7.4 Amnesty

In order to encourage reports of conduct prohibited under this policy, Eastwick College and the Hohokus school Colleges will offer amnesty to the alleged victim or reporting witness with respect to any alcohol and drug use violations as defined in Eastwick College and Hohokus school's student conduct code. Eastwick College and the Hohokus school may also offer amnesty or leniency to the alleged victim or reporting witness with respect to other violations of campus policy which may be disclosed as a result of such reports, depending on the circumstances involved. Eastwick College and the Hohokus school may recommend alcohol or drug counseling/education services to students violating Eastwick College and Hohokus school's student conduct code or drug and alcohol policies.

7.5 Non-Retaliation

Eastwick College and the Hohokus school prohibits retaliation against an employee or student for filing a complaint or for assisting in a complaint investigation. If you perceive retaliation for making a complaint or for your participation in an investigation, please follow the complaint procedure outlined above (See section 7.3). The situation will be investigated and responded to appropriately, based upon the finding(s) of the investigation. Interim measures may be taken to prevent or mitigate retaliation.

7.6 Clery Act Reporting

Eastwick College and the Hohokus school must be in compliance with the Clery Act and will annually report crime data statistics for public release as required. Corporate Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Title IX Coordinators must report statistics related to Title IX violations which meet the requirements of the Clery Act reports. The Corporate Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Title IX Coordinators will contact local law enforcement to obtain any anonymous statistics in regards to campus safety and security.

In addition, certain incidents that are a violation of Title IX may trigger the Clery Act requirement for timely warnings and emergency notifications to students. In the event that such as incident does occur, Eastwick College and the Hohokus school will issue necessary warnings and notifications as required to ensure the safety of all students and employees.

8 Investigation Procedures & Protocols

In determining whether alleged conduct violates this policy, Eastwick College and the Hohokus school makes a commitment to consider the totality of the facts and circumstances involved in the incident, including the nature of the alleged conduct and the context in which it occurred. Any of the prohibited conduct defined in this policy can be committed by individuals of any sex, and it can occur between individuals of the same or different sex(es). It can occur between strangers or acquaintances, as well as persons involved in sexual, dating, or family relationships.

8.1 Informal Complaint

The investigation will be overseen by either Corporate Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Title IX Coordinators, Academic Dean and will entail a thorough review of all evidence, interviews, electronic records, audio, etc. related to the complaint. Eastwick College and the Hohokus school does not provide any confidential resources on campus; therefore, any complaints will be investigated in accordance with this policy. We will keep the manner as confidential as possible and will include only parties that must be informed. Eastwick College and the Hohokus school allows complainants and respondents and provide any information related to the complaint to be considered in the complaint, however only relevant information will be considered by the school.

If the individual reporting would still like to maintain privacy and does not wish for a formal investigation or Eastwick College and the Hohokus school to address the matter the Corporate Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Title IX Coordinators will weigh and determine that request against the school's obligation to provide a safe, nondiscriminatory environment for all students, faculty, and staff. In making that decision they will consider a range of factors, including the following:

1. The risk that the alleged perpetrator will commit additional acts of misconduct or other violence;
2. The seriousness of the alleged misconduct, including risk of repeat incident, whether the respondent threatened further misconduct or other violence against the complainant or others, whether the alleged misconduct was facilitated by the incapacitation of the complainant, or whether the respondent has been found responsible in legal or other disciplinary proceedings for acts of misconduct or other violence;
3. Whether the alleged misconduct was perpetrated with a weapon;
4. Whether the complainant is a minor;
5. Whether the University possesses means other than the complainant's testimony to obtain relevant evidence of the alleged misconduct (e.g., security cameras, personnel records, or physical evidence);
6. Whether the alleged misconduct reveals a pattern of perpetration at a given location or by a particular group.

If it is concluded that a formal investigation is not needed the Corporate Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Title IX Coordinators determine that the most effective way to address the concern is through provision of support measures and/or policy compliance remedy. This would not involve a Formal Investigation or written report to determine if a policy has been violated. Instead this approach allows the school to tailor a remedy to the specific facts and circumstances of the incident. Resolution can include but are not limited to the following:

1. Provide support measures to the complainant and/or the respondent;
2. Provide a training to address the incident;
3. Provide a referral to other campus resolution processes as appropriate based on the specific facts of the case;
4. Provide information about external resources available.
5. Conduct a meeting with the respondent to (1) discuss the behavior as alleged and provide an opportunity to respond; (2) review prohibited conduct under the Applicable Policies; (3) identify and discuss appropriate future conduct and behavior as well as how to avoid behavior that could be interpreted as retaliatory; (4) inform the complainant of the respondent's responses if appropriate; and determine whether any other disciplinary action is appropriate.

All of the above must be documented.

8.2 Formal Investigation

All parties must be notified of the formal complaint and informed of their rights during an investigation. Eastwick College and the Hohokus school will make every effort to conduct and complete an investigation with action within thirty (30) days of the initial complaint. Some situations of a more complex nature may require additional time to ensure that all evidence and claims are thoroughly investigated. All those involved will be notified in writing of any extensions to timeframes needed. The thirty (30) days may also be extended in the event that one of the following occurs:

- Availability or unavailability of a witness or relevant/material documents;
- Recalcitrance of a witness and/or any necessary party;
- Delay or other uncooperative actions of any necessary party;
- Number of witnesses;
- Coordination with law enforcement efforts;
- Holidays and vacation periods; or
- Any other unforeseeable event/circumstance which impacts the investigation.

Once notified of a formal investigation, all parties are required to preserve any and all evidence pertaining to the investigation. Eastwick College and the Hohokus school will make every effort to investigate fully all aspects of every claim to ensure equitable treatment of all parties during the investigative process. At the conclusion of the investigation, Eastwick College and the Hohokus school will create a report summarizing the investigation including evidence reviewed, interviews conducted, and any additional resources consulted during the investigation.

Each party, whether a Complainant or a Respondent, may have an advisor of their choice present during any interview, which can include, but is not limited to an attorney or advocate. Advisors are not authorized to speak or participate instead of the complainant or respondent. If a complainant or respondent chooses to have an advisor present for interviews, it is complainant or respondent's obligation to select an advisor whose schedule allows attendance within the timeframes designated.

8.3 Formal Hearing and Resolution

The investigator, typically the Deputy Title IX Coordinator, will submit the complete investigation report to the respondent, the complainant, and their advisors, if any, for their review and response at least 10 days prior to a hearing.

Eastwick College and the Hohokus shall, upon receipt of the final investigative report, proceed to schedule a live hearing on the matter. A hearing shall be conducted unless both the respondent and the complainant both waive, in writing, the right to such a hearing. The college shall designate a Title IX hearing examiner or hearing committee to hear discipline cases. The college shall have the right to decide whether the matter will be heard by a hearing examiner or a hearing committee.

A fair hearing shall include all of the following:

- A right to the names of witnesses and of access to documentary and other evidence which serve as the basis for seeking discipline.
- Evidence collected during the investigative process will be made available to the Complainant, Respondent, and their Advisors for review and comment at least ten (10) days prior to the hearing. New evidence (evidence not gathered and considered during the investigative phase) may not be introduced during the live hearing. Likewise, new witnesses (who have not been interviewed by the investigators) are not permitted at the hearing.
- A right for the complainant and employee to be heard on their own behalf.
- A right to an advisor, advocate, or other representatives, and to offer witnesses. The respondent's or complainant's advisor or advocate may ask all witnesses relevant questions and follow-up questions, including those challenging credibility. Credibility determinations, however, may not be made based on a person's status as a complainant, respondent, or witness.

- A right to confront and cross-examine adverse witnesses. The respondent's or complainant's advisor shall conduct cross examination directly, orally, and in real time. The respondent and the complainant may not personally conduct cross-examination. If the respondent, the complainant, or a witness does not submit to cross-examination at the hearing the hearing committee or hearing examiner may not draw a negative inference in reaching its findings and recommendations based solely on the absence of a respondent, complainant, or witness from the hearing or refusal to answer cross-examination or other questions.
- A verbatim record of all hearings, which might be a sound recording, made available at no cost for inspection and review.
- All parties are expected to be civil and not engage in behavior that violates collegial standards, such as talking over someone, yelling, taking an aggressive stance towards someone (i.e., shaking a fist or standing too close to someone's face), or any other behavior that is deemed disruptive by the hearing committee.
- During the hearing the hearing committee or hearing facilitator will have the right to determine the relevancy of any questions asked on cross-examination and can exclude any irrelevant questioning.
- Upon request, the college shall provide for the hearing to occur with the respondent and complainant located in separate rooms with technology enabling the hearing committee or hearing examiner, the respondent, and the complainant to simultaneously see and hear witnesses answering questions.
- Upon scheduling the hearing, the above rules and additional procedures will be sent to the respondent, complainant, and their advisors.

After the hearing the hearing examiner or the hearing panel will finalize a conclusion. The report and conclusions are also sent to the Corporate Title IX Coordinator and executive leadership for review of the final outcomes prior to release to the notifications to all parties involved.

Eastwick College and the Hohokus school will fully comply with any investigation efforts conducted by law enforcement and will share all necessary information requested. As there are no confidential resources on campus, anything shared with Eastwick College and the Hohokus school may be provided to law enforcement.

Eastwick College and the Hohokus school will take immediate steps to protect complainants pending the final outcome of an investigation, including academic accommodations and other interim measures. These steps may include any of the interim measures listed in this policy.

8.4 Informal Resolution

The informal Resolution process is a voluntary process that is separate from the school's formal investigation process. If an informal resolution can be reached a formal investigation is no longer warranted.

- Depending on the seriousness of the allegations the Informal Resolution process might not be available.
- Participation in an Informal Resolution process is voluntary and the College will not require, encourage, or discourage the parties from participating in the Informal Resolution process.
- After a Formal Complaint has been submitted, the complainant or respondent may request an informal resolution in writing. The Corporate Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Title IX Coordinators, Dean, or an assigned.
- Resolution Facilitator will meet with the complainant and respondent separately to see if a resolution is possible and collect the requested remedies from both parties in writing. Both parties must consent in writing to participate.

- The Facilitator will share the written requests with the other party and identify areas of agreement.
- Any agreements reached must first be approved by the Campus Director and both parties will sign an Informal Resolution Agreement.
- Upon signing the agreement both parties are bound by its terms and cannot elect for a formal resolution process unless circumstances change significantly.
- Failure to comply with the signed agreement may result in disciplinary action for either party.
- The Informal Resolution process may be discontinued at any time by either the Corporate Title IX coordinator and Deputy Title IX Coordinator (or designee), the complainant, or the respondent.
- If the Informal Resolution process is discontinued for any reason or if the parties fail to reach a mutually agreeable outcome, the complainant may request to re-engage an investigation and formal resolution process.
- If an Informal Resolution process is terminated, the Informal Resolution process will no longer be made available as a remedy to resolve the complaint. Because Eastwick College and the Hohokus school has an obligation to address reports of sexual assault, dating violence, domestic violence, and stalking, the school may use party admissions or other information learned during the Informal Resolution Process in the Formal Investigation.

9 Grievance and Adjudication Procedures

Eastwick College and the Hohokus school is committed to conducting an investigation that is thorough, prompt, and impartial.

9.1 Preponderance of the Evidence

In making his/her determination, the investigator(s) shall observe a preponderance of the evidence standard. This means reaching a conclusion based upon all available facts and information as to whether one party's evidence outweighs the evidence of the other.

9.2 Conflicts of Interest

Investigations will be conducted by either the Corporate Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Title IX Coordinators and/or the Academic Dean. If there are any conflicts of interests in the investigation, a different internal or external party will be assigned to the investigation. If the complaint is in regards to the Corporate Title IX Coordinator, Title IX Deputy Coordinator and/or Dean the complaint will be referred to the College President.

Based on the outcomes of the investigation, appropriate sanctions, if any, will be determined by the student disciplinary process and then approved by Executive Vice President and President. Complainants should submit in writing any concerns regarding conflict of interest or impartiality to Corporate Title IX Coordinator, Executive Vice President, or President.

During the investigation process, both parties may and are encouraged to present any evidence related to the claim. Eastwick College and the Hohokus school will not allow either party to question directly the other party. Parties may submit questions to the investigator in relation to the claim and Eastwick College and the Hohokus school will ensure it is included in the investigation, if it is relevant to the case. Evidence of a prior consensual dating or sexual relationship between the parties by itself does not imply consent or preclude a finding of sexual misconduct.

9.3 Adjudication Process

Employees, faculty, and students who violate Eastwick College and Hohokus school's policies may be subject to disciplinary action. Employees who have violated this policy will be subject to disciplinary action including and up to termination depending on the investigation and determination of wrong doing. Students will be subject to disciplinary action including and up to expulsion depending on the investigation and determination of wrongdoing. Interim measures (See Section 4) may become permanent measures as needed.

The parties will be informed of the results of the adjudication, including:

- Simultaneous written notice to both parties of the outcome of the complaint and the option to appeal, if applicable;
- a statement that the school will not require a party to abide by a nondisclosure agreement, in writing or otherwise, that would prevent the re-disclosure of information related to the outcome of the proceeding.

All parties are strongly encouraged to not discuss the investigation or proceedings with other witnesses to preserve the quality of evidence and the subsequent investigation.

9.4 VAWA Sanctions

Eastwick College and the Hohokus school takes all reports and incidents of Clery crimes and VAWA offenses very seriously. Sanctions can range from written warnings and suspensions to termination or expulsion. Below are specific sanctions as they relate to VAWA offenses.

Domestic and dating violence incidents will result in a written warning for minor offenses that do not involve physical harm. Serious offenses which involve physical harm or repeat offenses of any severity would result in expulsion or termination.

Stalking incidents may result in anything from a written warning to expulsion or termination depending on the severity of the offense. In addition, any protective or restraining orders will be enforced and offenders may be required to change schedules or classes to avoid potential contact. If the stalking incident(s) are combined with additional offenses such as domestic or dating violence, immediate expulsion or termination would result. Refusal to accept class or schedule changes may also result in expulsion or termination.

Sexual Assault (specifically rape, fondling, incest, or statutory rape) incidents will result in termination or expulsion.

9.5 General Grievance and Appeals

Students are strongly encouraged to report alleged misconduct and policy violations of any established policies to the lowest staff level. Individuals, who receive such reports, will immediately relay them to the Campus Director, Executive Vice President, and President for further investigation and appropriate action. College Management must also ensure that affected individuals have all health, counseling, and safety needs met. This may include referral for additional assistance and/or law enforcement agencies, as deemed appropriate.

The below grievance procedure should be followed by all students who seek resolution of a grievance, complaint, or concern related to their attendance at the College/school. Certain grievances related to Title IX may require different procedures and the campus Sexual Misconduct policy will then apply. Under no circumstance will any adverse action be taken against a complainant for registering a complaint in good faith.

- The student should attempt to resolve the grievance at the staff or faculty level nearest the source or cause of the concern; most concerns can be resolved there. However, if there is a perceived conflict or it is not resolved satisfactorily, the student should escalate the issue to secure the involvement of a person who will serve as an impartial representative of the college and who is not directly involved in the area of complaint.
- If the issue cannot be resolved at the source, the student is encouraged to present the concern to the Department/Supervisor.
- If the concern is not resolved at the Department / Supervisor level, the student may contact the Dean of Academics or Associate Dean
- If, after a timely review with the above management staff, (which may include a report to the student of the findings and decision) the student remains dissatisfied with the decision, the student may submit a written grievance to be considered by the Campus Director.
 - The written document must include a clear statement of the grievance, complaint or concern, and request a specific remedy, corrective action, or suggest a resolution for the Campus Director's consideration.
 - The Campus Director will be allowed allocated timeframe in which to discuss the matters with all interested parties and provide the student a written determination stating the reasons for the decision.
- When further appeal is desired the student may pursue the matter by contacting:

9.6 Title IX Appeals

After the hearing committee has made a final decision and notified parties in writing of the results of the Title IX hearing. An appeal may be submitted through the campus Deputy Title IX Coordinator or the Title IX Coordinator within (5) days of receiving the final decision. The appeal will be forwarded to a designated Appeal Officer that was not previously involved in the related investigation or hearing. The Appeal Officer will have (3) days to respond that the appeal has been received and filed. Responses will be shared with all parties.

Grounds for appeal are as follows:

- A procedural error or omission occurred that significantly impacted the outcome of the process.
- To consider new evidence, unavailable during the original investigation or adjudication, that could substantially impact the original finding or sanction. A summary of this new evidence and its potential impact must be included. NOTE: The party previously had knowledge of this evidence and failed to provide this evidence previously it will not be considered ‘new evidence’
- A conflict of interest or bias by an investigator, coordinator, or hearing committee member that substantially impacted the outcome of the investigation or adjudication.

The Appeal Officer will submit a decision limited to the below within (6) days of receiving the Appeal:

- Affirming the decision of the original AHP and or investigation.
- In cases where it is determined that the procedural error did significantly impact the finding or sanction, the Appeal Officer will require one of the following two remedies:
 - Remand the case back to the original coordinators, investigators and/or hearing committee with instruction to repair the procedural error.
 - Remand the case back to be reinvestigated by new investigators, new coordinator, and/or new hearing committee. This is typically done in cases where the procedural error is so profound as to render the original investigation and/or adjudication too biased or influenced.
- In cases where it is determined that the new evidence, unavailable during the original investigation, is now available and could substantially impact the original finding or sanctions of the hearing committee, the Appeal Officer will remand the case back to the original hearing committee with instruction to consider the new evidence.
 - In this cases, the original hearing committee will convene solely to consider the new evidence.
